Make your New Year's Resolution one to benefit the breed we love & the dogs affected by Canine Epilepsy. Blood samples from dogs with Idiopathic (primary) epilepsy are needed. If your dog, or a dog you know, is affected, please do your part by donating a sample of blood. Blood samples and funding are both essential to help the researchers find the genes responsible for canine epilepsy & develop a screening test.

The research grant for Dr. Ned Patterson at the University of Minnesota that we provide financial support for has been extended to September 2010 so more Aussie samples can be analyzed using a new SNP array that has just become available and has much more power than the previous SNP arrays. Please make a donation to support the research and help us in the fight against canine epilepsy. With your help we can defeat Canine Epilepsy!
